Borough Receives $64,400 from State To Help Finance Affordable Housing

Princeton Borough has received a loan in the amount of $64,400 from the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs (DCA) to help finance first-stage planning for 14 new affordable housing units in the John-Witherspoon area.

Three sites at the corner of John and Clay Streets — the basketball court and two small vacant lots facing it across Clay — will be developed into housing for low and moderate income Princeton residents and for Borough employees who can't afford to pay Borough housing prices.

The land, which totals about 13,200 square feet, is owned by the municipality. Mayor Barbara Sigmund estimated its value at from $75,000 to $100,000. The Borough will contribute the land at no cost, if necessary, to assure that the planned housing is affordable.

The no-interest DCA loan is to be paid back to the State at the time the permanent financing plan for the housing is put into place. However, if the amount of the loan serves to make the housing unaffordable, it will be forgiven.

The State monies will be used to finance everything that is necessary to prepare the proposed housing for construction within the next year.

This includes site surveys and soil borings, site plans, unit designs and architectural plans, utility design and drawings, the securing of necessary zoning variances and site plan approval, arranging the financing plan and development vehicle, and selecting the builder/developer.

It is estimated that a maximum of 14 units could be accommodated within the sites. Attached dwellings and multiple dwellings up to three stories in height are permitted. Space for off-street parking — a necessity since the Borough does not allow overnight parking — will be included in the plans.

These units would be built for purchase, not rental. The Borough is considering two ways to make such purchase a reality for low- and moderate-income families.

The first approach would be to secure low-interest home mortgages from the New Jersey Housing and Mortgage Finance Agency and sell the units to qualified purchasers.

The second would be to utilize the Princeton Housing Authority for the issuance of bonds, and then offer the units on a lease/purchase basis.

These first 14 would be the first step in implement-

N.J. Transit Will Stop Loop Bus after Labor Day; Princeton Area Transit Will Attempt to Fill Gap

New Jersey Transit will stop operating the Princeton Loop Bus some time after Labor Day. The reason: poor ridership, generally averaging about 120 passengers a day.

Princeton Area Transit (PAT), however, has agreed to pick up as much of the Loop service as possible. PAT officials will meet with New Jersey Transit representatives during the summer to try to develop a route as close as possible to the existing loop.

The current Loop and PAT routes parallel each other for stretches along Nassau, Witherspoon, and North Harrison Streets. However, PAT turns more into the heart of the Borough, stopping along Hamilton, Walnut, Moore and Franklin, while the Loop Bus heads into the Township, along Terhune Road and into Bunn Drive.

Redding Terrace, a public housing development with a large number of senior citizens, has been served only by the Loop bus. PAT has agreed to take over the

Suspect Charged in Burger King Robbery

Following a joint investigation by Borough and Trenton police, a Trenton man, Jerome C. Ryland, 25, has been charged with the armed robbery June 1 of the Burger King on Nassau Street and the May 3 robbery of the Food Winkel on Chambers' Street. Ryland was arrested at his home at 6 a.m. Thursday when police executed a search warrant.

A second suspect in the two robberies, Sidney Hightower, 25, of Trenton is Michael Carnevale said that both Hightower and Thomas were employees of Burger King.

Chief Carnevale commented the arrests and charges were the result of some significant leads developed by Borough detectives.

"Those subsequently led to Trenton," he said, "where we received tremendous co-operation from the Trenton police department which was developing information in a similar armed robbery.

"As a result of the leads and the co-operation of the Trenton police, particularly from Sgt. Joseph Salvatore, we had enough information to make the charges," Chief Carnevale concluded.

ing the Borough's plan to build at least 125 units for low- and moderate-income families. In addition, the Borough hopes to develop an additional 75 affordable housing units through revision of current zoning laws and preservation of existing dwellings.

The Borough's difficulty in moving along with the construction of the 125 units has been the lack of available land — and the high prices being asked for that land when it does go up for sale. The mayor estimated that land in the Borough is selling for about $200,000 an acre.

The Borough had hoped to present its detailed plan for affordable housing to Judge Eugene Serpentelli early next month. On the basis of the plan, he would then be asked to reduce Princeton Borough's obligation under Mt. Laurel II from 1469 low and moderate income housing units to 200.

Now, however, the difficulties in obtaining sites for the housing will make it necessary to postpone the meeting with the judge, said Mayor Sigmund.

Buses, however, will run only once an hour, compared with the Loop's half-hourly schedule.

The M bus (which evolved out of the original Outer Loop bus) will continue to operate and to pick up school children.

The Loop buses began operation a little over a decade ago. They were originally funded by the Borough and Township, with the cost to each municipality soon exceeding $50,000 a year. To what was no doubt a shared sigh of relief from all Princeton taxpayers, Mercer Metro took over the operation in 1977.

Ironically, the Outer Loop bus, which could find very few riders on its journey to the outer reaches of the Township, far surpassed the Inner Loop bus in ridership when it began to go out to the malls on Route 1. Now named the M bus, it will remain in service, while the once-more-popular Inner Loop will go.

The cancellation of the Loop bus, as well as bus routes in Hopewell, Pennington, and Trenton, will make way for New Jersey Transit's introduction of two new routes that will serve the burgeoning 9 to 5 population on Route 1.

The first would begin in Hamilton, stop in Trenton and at the mall and corporate centers along Route 1, and end at the Forrestal Center. It would operate every 30 minutes during rush hour.

The second new route would begin at Twin Rivers in East Windsor and make train connections at Princeton Junction as it heads toward the Route 1 corridor.

Borrry Coleman, PAT's general manager, estimated that his company will pick up as many as 100 new riders per day when the Loop ceases operation. It currently carries about 80 riders per day within the Loop area. The company uses an 18- and a 21-passenger bus for this route. It has no plans to add vehicles.

Mr. Coleman said that he wants to find out where most people are and where they want to go — especially on the school routes — so that the new route will be able to get closer to more houses and serve more students.

He is anxious to hear from Princeton residents as to their transportation needs and says that, "the more people call us,

Dr. Seuss, Millicent Fenwick, Are Honored At Princeton University's Commencement

Millicent Fenwick, who represented this area in Congress for several terms before losing a bid to the Senate in 1980, and Dr. Seuss, author of Cat in the Hat and other well-loved children's books, were among the seven recipients of honorary degrees at Princeton University's 238th Commencement exercises Tuesday.

Held under grey skies but not marred by rain, Princeton's Commencement also conferred a total of 1,599 bachelor and advanced degrees and honored four New Jersey secondary school teachers. In keeping with long tradition, the two principal Commencement speeches, the valedictory and the Latin salutatory addresses, were delivered by members of the graduating class. Princeton University President William G. Bowen delivered brief remarks at the conclusion of the ceremonies.

Other honorary degree recipients include Alonzo Church, professor of mathematics emeritus at Princeton University who taught here for nearly 40 years before becoming professor of philosophy and mathematics at the University of California. Prof. Church was awarded the honorary doctor of science for having made Princeton "an international center of symbolic logic" and for work in which "he defined the central question concerning the boundaries of formal reasoning."

Mrs. Fenwick was cited as an "outspoken advocate for civil and human rights [who] has spent the last 30 years fighting for her conviction that the 'whole point of government is justice.'" Mrs. Fenwick is presently United States Ambassador to the United Nations Agencies for Food and Agriculture where "she challenges us still to serve those most in need."

Theodor Seuss Geisel, author, illustrator, creator of animated television specials and motion pictures, and president of Beginner Books at Random House, was awarded the honorary Doctor of Fine Arts. "He makes housecalls in the land of our first dreams and fears," reads the citation, "where naughty cats wear hats and the menace of the Grinch is real. From Mulberry Street to Solla Sollew he leads us through the brightly colored landscape of imagination, a place of improbable rhymes and impossible names, odd creatures and curious food.

"Encouraging children to read beyond zebra, to count fishes red and blue, he gives them their first mastery over the mystery of signs. He shows them the way to the adult world, as he shows adults the way to the child."

In addition, Phillip S. Hughes, under secretary of The Smithsonian Institution, was awarded the honorary Doctor of Laws, which also went to Saburo Okita, chairman of the Institute for Domestic and International Policy Studies in Tokyo, Japan, and president of the International University of Japan.

David R. Paton M.D. was awarded an honorary Doctor of Science for bringing "the promise of sight to millions around the globe." Dr. Paton, chairman and chief medical officer of OcuSystems, Inc., is the founder of Project Orbis in which "he has combined modern technology with ageless compassion to carry the newest techniques of ophthalmology to doctors throughout the world."

And Lloyd G. Richards, dean and artistic director of the Yale School of Drama and Yale Repertory Theatre, was presented an honorary Doctor of Fine Arts. Mr. Richards is also artistic director of the National Playwrights Conference at the Eugene O'Neill Memorial Theater Center where aspiring playwrights have the opportunity of hearing their plays read by professional actors.

Four Teachers Honored. The recipients of four 1985 Princeton Prizes for Distinguished Secondary School Teaching in New Jersey were cited at the Commencement exercises. The four are Raymond Eichman, an English teacher at Glen Rock High School; Marie Jones, English teacher at the Woodrow Wilson High School in Camden; mathematics teacher David Martin of Tenafly High School; and science teacher Richard Ruffalo of Belleville High School.

Established in 1959 by an anonymous gift from a Princeton alumnus, the prizes recognize "fruitful teaching and devoted service" in New Jersey schools. In addition to an award of $2,000 to each winner, the prize includes a grant of $1,000 made to each school for the purchase of library books.

Among the Princeton University graduating senior class, there were 665 men and 413 women. The undergraduate degrees included 866 bachelors of arts and 212 bachelors of science in engineering. Four additional undergraduates from earlier classes also were awarded degrees.

Four hundred seventy-one, or 44 percent, of the seniors received some form of honors: 98 highest honors, 159 high honors and 214 honors.

The 521 advanced degrees included 211 doctors of philosophy, 185 masters of arts, 39 masters of science in engineering, 49 masters in public affairs, 11 masters of fine arts, 20 masters of architecture, and six masters in public affairs and urban and regional planning.

DISPLAYS & STREET SIGNS Make for Lively Discussion. Should private use of the public right of way be allowed in Princeton Borough? And, if so, what should be the guidelines for such use?

July 1 for Smoke Detectors

The Princeton Borough Ordinance requiring smoke detectors in every dwelling will go into effect July 1.

The law requires all Borough home owners to install ionization or photoelectric type units in the immediate vicinity outside of each bedroom.

It also states that a minimum of one single-station smoke detector must be installed on each story of the dwelling, including basements and cellars.

displays of merchandise, vending machines, signs and street vendors — was discussed at last week's Borough Council meeting.

The proposal was drafted by a three-member committee composed of Councilpersons John Huntton, Marvin Reed and Jane Terpstra.

It allows merchants to display merchandise in front of their stores, providing the displays meet certain criteria of size and width. For example, they must leave at least four feet of the right-of-way clear for pedestrians.

In response to a question, Councilwoman Mildred Trotman was assured that this would be enough room for baby carriages and motorized vehicles for the handicapped to pass through.

There would be a $100 annual fee for these displays, and permission for them would have to be granted by Mayor and Council. Those who have already become part of the Princeton streetscape will be "grandfathered"; no further permission would have to be requested. Enforcement of the ordinance would be the province of the Borough zoning officer.

Don Broderick of the Princeton University Store fumed after the proposed ordinance was read. "I congratulate you on making Delancey Street in Princeton," he said. "You're creating a schlock atmosphere in a town in which you have just passed an historic ordinance."

To Mayor Sigmund's response that the ordinance doesn't allow the displays, but rather sets standards where there were none before, Alan Frank of Langrock's said that no one comes to Borough Council for such permission. "They all do it anyway."

He also noted that there had been no sidewalk survey for five years because there has been no money for one. "There is no money to enforce ordinances," he told the Council.

Former Councilman Peter Bearse, who had addressed the problem of the private use of the public right of way prior to the expiration of his term, said that there should be a companion budgetary item for enforcement. "It would be somewhat naive to expect the zoning officer, who is already overcommitted, to enforce the ordinance."

No Vending Machines. The proposal also recommends that there be no sale of merchandise by self-operated vending machines in the public right of way. The one exception is newspapers.

When the Borough attempted to halt the sale of street-corner newspapers by confiscating all the vending machines, it ran up against the First Amendment rights enjoyed by the papers. That is the reason why Princeton's downtown area is again peppered with newspaper vending machines.

Vendors, says the proposed ordinance, should not be permitted to operate in the public right of way except by special permit granted by Mayor and Council.

Free-standing and "A"-frame signs will continue to be prohibited on Borough streets. Paper signs, states the proposal, should not exceed a third of the window area, must be mounted on the window, and must be taken down after 14 days.

Both Mr. Frank and Mayor

Sigmund recalled a Borough ruling going back a number of years that stated signs must be a few feet back from the window, not mounted on it. A walk past Langrock's will show that Mr. Frank's signs are dutifully set back.

Borough Clerk Penny Carter was asked to see if she could find the ordinance that specified this sign setback.

The three-member committee will continue to meet on finalizing the ordinance before introducing it to Council. No deadline has been set.

According to W. Henry Sayen, the purpose of the project is to "bring central New Jersey's private and public leadership together on a physical and economic plan for the region's future."

MSM is a non-partisan planning and research organization with a broad base of citizen and corporate support. MSM has long been an advocate of effective growth management in the central New Jersey region between the Raritan and the Delaware rivers.

The Regional Forum is expected to yield a common set of facts about the region, to define goals, to consider alternative patterns of growth and to support specific proposals — legislative and otherwise — for a wide range of regional concerns. This will be accomplished through a regional committee meeting in conferences and through task groups on specific issues.

"We anticipate comprehensive proposals within a year and early action recommendations within a few months,"

Mr. Sayen said. The agenda will include the following:

- Transportation facilities and services,
- Accurate forecasts of population, housing, jobs, economic activity,
- Capacity of highways, sewers, water supply, schools, and other facilities and services to accommodate growth,
- Conservation of agricultural land, stream corridors, parklands and natural areas,
- Physical design of new development and the pattern of land use, and
- Governmental structure necessary to accomplish these ends.

In funding the Regional Forum project, MSM will augment its present individual and corporate support with leadership grants from some of its corporate members. Commitments presently exceed $100,000 toward a goal of approximately $150,000.

MSM has also agreed with the New Jersey Department of Transportation (NJDOT) to invite members of the existing Route One Corridor Advisory Committee and its Task Groups to be the point of departure for the Regional Forum. A meeting of the Route One Corridor Advisory Committee will be scheduled for late June.

The Route One Advisory Committee, which brings together approximately 75 private sector leaders as well as local and state government representatives, has been meeting with the NJDOT Division of Planning and Research staff for the past two years. Task Groups on (1) transportation facilities and services, (2) financing, and (3) land use and access control have been formed. Specific proposals in each of these areas have been brought forward.

MSM plans to expand the Route One Advisory Committee — in numbers as well as geography — and to create new task groups to address other aspects of regional development. The NJDOT Route One project team, under the leadership of Alfred H. Harf, director of Transportation and Research, NJDOT, will remain actively involved.

A Steering Committee will provide overall guidance for the Regional Forum. Its initial membership will include Robert J. Wolfe, general manager, Princeton Forrestal Center, chairman; Carol L. Beske, vice president, Fellows, Read and Associates, Inc.; Ingrid W. Reed, chairman, Mercer County Planning Board; Gerald C. Lenaz, vice president, Raymond, Parish & Pine, Inc.; Alfred H. Harf, director of Transportation Planning and Research, NJDOT; Hon. Peter A. Cantu, member, Plainsboro Township Committee; and Douglas V. Opalski, Middlesex County Planning Director.

The Regional Forum is expected to begin immediately.

$30 MILLION FOR ROUTE 1
Recommended by Panel. The State's Joint Appropriations Committee (JAC) has approved a $30 million package of improvements to Route 1 in Mercer and Middlesex Counties.

Of the total, $17.3 million will go for improvements to Route 1 in Mercer County. An additional $7.9 million is earmarked for the construction of an overpass at the Quaker Bridge Road Intersection.

The package also includes $3.1 million to pay for design improvements on Route 1 between Trenton and New Brunswick.

An overpass similar to that at Quaker Bridge Road is planned for Scudders Mill Road in Plainshoro. The Department of Transportation (DOT) also wants to widen Route 1 between Quaker Bridge and Alexander Roads.

Work on the Quaker Bridge Road project is due to begin by next spring, according to the DOT.

The DOT has dedicated about $75 million in funding originally allocated for 1-95 for improvements to Route 1. However, an additional $125 million will be required to improve the roadway so that it can efficiently handle the onslaught of development now underway.

The spending plan approved by the JAC will now go to the Legislature for consideration. It will also require approval of the Governor.

FREDA IS CANDIDATE
Receives 62 Write-In Votes. Mark Freda will be the second Democrat on the November ballot for Borough Council.

The Democrats were shy one candidate when only former councilman Peter Bearse filed for election. This created the need for a write-in candidate, and Mr. Freda, who received the support of the Democratic Municipal Committee, was the victor. He received 62 votes, but required only 25 to win.

Republican candidates for Borough Council, who ran unopposed, are Council President Richard Woodbridge, seeking his fourth term, and Kathy Bagley. They will run against Mr. Bearse and Mr. Freda in November.

Voting in the June 4 primary was very light, with only about ten percent of voters turning out in the Borough and Township. Democratic gubernatorial Primary winner Peter Shapiro was the clear winner in Princeton, too. He received 414 votes in the Township and 240 in the Borough.

Newark Mayor Kenneth Gibson came in second, receiving 111 Township and 80 Borough votes.

HEARING IS SOUGHT
On Traffic by Foundation. The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation has asked that its traffic expert be heard by the Plainsboro Planning Board on Monday, when the Princeton Forrestal Village application comes up for final site plan approval.

Earlier in the month, the Foundation filed suit in Middlesex County Court to prevent final approval and the issuance of building permits for this 1.6 million-square-foot commercial development until there are assurances that a grade-separated interchange at College Road and Route One will be completed at the same time that Phase I of the project is completed.

In its complaint filed in Superior Court, the Foundation says it was not permitted, during the preliminary approval hearing before the Plainsboro Planning Board, the 30-day time extension necessary to produce its own traffic report. That report, conducted by Abbington-Ney Associates of Freehold, challenges the assumptions by the developer's traffic consultants as being "unrealistic" and concludes that "without grade separation the intersection of Route 1 and College Road will not operate at acceptable levels of service at the completion of Phase I."

For the meeting on Monday, the Foundation is also asking that Plainsboro Township's own traffic expert from the firm of Raymond, Parish, Pine & Weiner be present. That expert was also critical of the assumptions of the developer's traffic consultant in testimony before the Development Review Committee, an advisory committee that reviews applications in advance of the Planning Board.

tee that reviews applications in advance of the Planning Board.

Seeks Costs Allocation. According to Frank Karel, vice president for communications, the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation believes not only that an overpass or underpass at College Road and Route One is essential for traffic management at that intersection, but also that such an interchange will primarily benefit the developers and adjacent landowners, of which it is one.

The Foundation believes that no construction ought to be permitted until an allocation of costs for a grade separated interchange is determined and mandated by Plainsboro Township.

"The traffic situation is too critical," Mr. Karel notes. "Estimates are that 3,800 people are currently employed in the Princeton Forrestal Center [across Route One from the proposed Princeton Forrestal Village]; the Merrill Lynch development will bring 1,500 more this summer with many more than that to follow; and there are buildings up, under construction or before the Planning Board for another 6,000 people."

He continues: "To allow the Forrestal Village complex to proceed without an overpass or underpass is a sure ticket to a traffic nightmare for everyone who uses U.S. Route

1 for miles in either direction from the Princeton Forrestal Center."

Heliport for Merrill Lynch? On Monday night the Plainsboro Planning Board is also scheduled to consider a request from Merrill Lynch for permission to build a heliport on its 250-acre training center/office complex in the Forrestal Center.

The heliport would be 190 feet in diameter and located next to the 366-room hotel presently in the final phases of construction at the complex. Merrill Lynch plans as many as 10 runs a day by helicopter between Plainsboro and its New York City offices. A spokesman said the helicopter would be used primarily by senior executives.

Concerns about noise have been raised by nearby residents and some planning board members. Homes in the Jeffers Road and Plainsboro Road areas are closest to the proposed takeoff and landing site.

In an effort to allay those fears, Merrill Lynch planned to make test landings last week at unannounced times within 30 feet of the proposed site. An airstrip 3,000 feet long already exists at the Forrestal Center, across Scudders Mill Road from the Merrill Lynch complex. A company vice president said that executives landing at the strip would "end up back on Route 1 fighting traffic" to return to their offices.

CHARGES DROPPED

By University. Princeton University has dropped charges against the 90 people arrested by Borough Police in an anti-apartheid rally outside Nassau Hall last month.

President William G. Bowen said that one reason for not continuing to prosecute in the municipal court against those arrested for blockading Nassau Hall "was to move as promptly as possible beyond the inevitable tensions of situations of this kind so that we can concentrate our discussions on the important substantive issues before us."

The University chose to rely solely on its internal disciplinary procedures as punishment. Students were issued warnings that will not be part of their permanent records.

The demonstrators, who were protesting the University's investments in companies that do business in South Africa, were composed mainly of students and junior faculty members.

President Bowen stated that the decision not to prosecute was based on the belief that the University's own judicial procedures are the most appropriate way for University rules and standards to be applied and enforced; that the purpose of the arrests was accomplished in that the building was open by approximately 9:30 a.m.; and that the timing of these cases, at the end of an academic year, means that final adjudication could be exceptionally complicated and protracted.

According to Michael Danielson, a political science professor and chairman of the Judicial Committee of the Council of the Princeton University Community, the warning was the lightest penalty the protestors could have received.

He added that this action ended the internal proceedings in the university.

DIVESTITURE REVIEW

Promised by Trustees. Princeton University trustees, meeting Monday, unanimously voted to create an "informal steering committee" to review the University's policy on divestiture.

After a two-hour session, the 39-member board called for a "careful review and reconsideration of a number of specific questions ... and circumstances under which the university should consider disassociating itself" from companies doing business in racially segregated South Africa. However, in a six-point resolution, the board reaffirmed its 1978 position that divestiture of stock in companies doing business in South Africa "is not effective or appropriate."

The resolution called for a review of the university's communications with those companies and a monitoring of the companies. It also broadened the scope and enlarged the membership of the trustee subcommittee on policy and budget, creating the five-member informal committee sought by student protesters.

President William G. Bowen called the move "an attempt to reconsider and re-examine some important questions" in regard to divestiture, but said that the resolution was unrelated to the recent blockade of Nassau Hall, which led to the arrest of 85 anti-apartheid protesters.

John C. Kenefick '43, who was elected chairman of the trustees' executive committee, will sit on the informal panel, as will Princeton resident Nicholas Katzenbach '43, John C. Beck '53, Michael Calhoun '70 and John W. McCarter '60.

Student protesters called the trustees' decision "an encouraging first step" and praised their call for research, teaching and scholarship programs designed to combat racism and apartheid in South Africa.

NEW CHAIRMAN NAMED
Of University Trustees. R. Manning Brown Jr. has stepped down after 15 years as chairman of the executive committee of the Princeton University board of trustees. Mr. Brown, a Westcott Road resident, completed the longest term ever served in that position.

John C. Kenefick '43 was elected by the trustees to succeed Mr. Brown for the academic year 1985-86, with the expectation that he will be succeeded by James A. Henderson '56, currently chairman of A Campaign for Princeton, when the campaign ends in June 1986.

Mr. Brown joined the University board as a term trustee in 1963. He was elected a charter trustee, and in the fall of 1970 became chairman of the executive committee. Upon reaching the board's mandatory retirement age in June 1986, Mr. Brown will have served 23 years as a trustee of Princeton.

Retired in 1981 as chairman of the board of New York Life Insurance Co., Mr. Brown has served on every standing committee of the board and was particularly involved in the work of the investment committee, which supervises Princeton's endowment portfolios, and in oversight of the University's real estate holdings.

Mr. Brown is a director of a number of large corporations and has served as a trustee for the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation. A recently announced scholarship fund in his name now stands at more than $1.3 million.

John Kenefick, who served this year as vice chairman of the Executive Committee and who has been clerk of the board since 1981, was first elected a term trustee of the University in 1979. He was elected to a charter position in 1983. He is chairman and chief executive officer of the Union Pacific Railroad, with his main office in Omaha, Neb.

James Henderson has been chairman of the $330 million Campaign for Princeton since it began in February 1982. Elected a charter trustee in 1979, Mr. Henderson is president and chief operating officer of the Cummins Engine Company with headquarters in Columbus, Ind.

SERVICE FRIDAY

For Drowning Victim. A memorial service will be held Friday at 3 in the Princeton University Chapel for Betty R. Curtiss, 53, of 34 Southern Way who drowned last week in Carnegie Lake.

Mrs. Curtiss was found at 6:55 Thursday morning floating face down in the lake by two off-duty policemen, Borough Ptl. Mark Stillitano and Trenton Ptl. Carmine Maratucci, who were fishing in a rowboat.

Lt. Frank Bocciafuso, who investigated the incident together with Det. Jerry Offredo and Det. James Dillon of the County Prosecutor's Office, reported the body was found approximately midway between the Harrison Street and Washington Road bridges, 27 feet from the Route 1 side of the lake. The measured depth at the point was 33 inches.

The body was taken to the Mercer County Medical Examiner's office where Medical Examiner Dr. Rafaat Ahmad performed an autopsy. The cause of death was listed as asphyxiation by drowning.

Lt. Bocciafuso said that there were no apparent marks or bruises on the body and there was no indication of foul play.

He said that Mrs. Curtiss had last been seen at 11 Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Curtiss was born in Troy, N.Y., and had been a resident of Princeton for 29 years. She graduated in 1953 from Vassar College and had been an instructor at Pratt Graphic Center in New York City and the Princeton Adult School.

She was vice-president of the Arts Council of Princeton and a member of the Princeton Art Association, the International Society of Copier Artists, the Printmaking Council of New Jersey and the New Jersey Designer Craftsmen.

In addition to her husband, Howard C. Curtiss Jr., a Princeton University professor, she is survived by a daughter, Lisa Crosby of Brooklyn; a son, Jonathan Cloke Curtiss of Boston; her father, John B. Cloke, and a sister, Sandra Hill, both of Brookport, N.Y.

Funeral arrangements are under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home, 1 Hamilton Avenue. Burial will be in Princeton Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Betty Ruth Curtiss Memorial Fund, c/o the Arts Council of Princeton, 102 Witherspoon Street.

A length of one-inch manila rope, 125 feet long and valued at $160, was taken from a construction site at the rear of McCormick Hall. Police identified the victim as a Berwyn, Pa. construction firm.

A sump pump was stolen last week from the Quaker First Day School on Quaker Road. Point of entry: an unlocked basement door.

Township police are continuing their investigation into the theft of a 1984 Cadillac which was taken from the lot next to Township Hall. The car had been towed there by police after it was initially found abandoned early Monday morning in a wooded area near the Italian American Sports- men Club off Terhune Road. The owner, Clifford Harmon of Trenton, told police here that temporary license plates had been removed from the car while it had been parked in Trenton.

And there were more bicycle thefts. Student bikes valued at $300 and $210 were stolen from the Walnut Lane side of Princeton High School and a locked bike, valued at $450 and owned by a university student, was taken between 1:30 and 3 Friday morning from Dickinson Street.

A unlocked bike valued at $90 was stolen from the playground area of Community Park School and a front fork assembly worth $40 was stripped from a $200 bike which had been left by its Erdman Avenue owner near Thrift Drugs in the Princeton Shopping Center. Plains, N.Y., was charged with simple assault after he threatened West Windsor Det. Barry Norris with a broken beer bottle Saturday evening at Pyne Hall. Det. Norris had been hired as a security officer to help work the reunions.

During processing at police headquarters, Frank was found to be in possession of marijuana and he was charged with possession of less than 25 grams of the drug.

Eighteen-year-old Michael Blaxill, 270 Lambert Drive, was also charged with simple assault when he allegedly struck a hired security officer in the stomach with his fist. He was later apprehended on campus and turned over to Borough police, following the incident which took place 1:45 Sunday morning near Little Hall.

His victim, identified as Lynn Susswein, a member of the Trenton State College police force, signed a complaint against Blaxill, who, like Frank, faces a June 19 appearance in Borough court.

Chief Michael Carnevale also reported that his department is investigating another assault which occurred at 5:10 Sunday morning in the Henry Hall courtyard, site of the 10th Reunion. A suspect whose name the police have, but whom they have not yet been able to interview, is alleged to have struck a university student in the mouth, knocking the victim unconscious. The victim was taken to Princeton Medical Center where he received two sutures to close a laceration of the lip.

A 15-year-old Lawrenceville youth was taken into custody when he was observed Friday night by Ptl. Deonis McManimon, staggering under the influence of alcohol in the Edwards Hall courtyard. He was later released to his parents.

HOLTZMAN & HOLTZMAN Same Name, Same Crime. Alexander Holtzman, 22, of Trenton, and Kevin Holtzman, 19, of East Brunswick were each charged by Borough police with possession of marijuana last week in separate arrests.

Kevin Holtzman was arrested at 4:05 Saturday morning on Nassau Street near Snowden Lane after police observed him speeding and failing to keep right. When Ptl. Michael Taylor approached his car, he detected an odor of marijuana and observed a marijuana roach in plain view in an ash tray.

He was charged with possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana and with failure to keep right and released, pending his appearance in court July 17.

Alexander Holtzman was arrested earlier in the week when his car was stopped on Nassau, again near Snowden, by Ptl. Taylor and Ptl. Dennis McManimon for improper passing.

Holtzman consented to a search of his car after both officers detected a burnt odor of marijuana. "I only have a small quantity of marijuana," he told the officers, as he opened his car's center console and handed over a small plastic baggie.

He was issued summonses for both the drug and motor vehicle violations and released. His court date is also July 17.

Driver, Passenger Charged.
A driver and a passenger were charged by police with several violations after their car was stopped by Ptl. Michael Taylor at 2:12 Saturday morning on Alexander Street for having no tail lights. The driver, Lawrence Flanly, 27, of Levittown, Pa., was charged with driving while his license was suspended and operating an uninsured and unregistered car. A check with Bucks County police also revealed that there was an active warrant out for his arrest.

At headquarters during processing, a search of Flanly uncovered a plastic bag in his pants pocket which police believe to contain methamphetamine.

He was remanded to Mercer County Jail in lieu of $500 bail set by Borough Judge Russell W. Annich.

The passenger, Pamela Ortez of Levittown, who police said was the owner of the car, was charged with allowing an unlicensed driver to operate and consuming alcohol in a motor vehicle.

Samuel Woodworth, 21, 1 Ober Road, was arrested near Little Hall on the Princeton University campus Saturday night by off-duty Ptl. Ronald Wohlschlegel. Ptl. Wohlschlegel, hired by University Security for the reunion weekend, observed Woodworth smoking a marijuana cigarette and identified himself. In Woodworth's possession police found a small plastic bag of marijuana.

Woodworth was taken to police headquarters, charged with possession of less than 25 grams and released, pending his court appearance July 3.

SNEAK PREVIEW: Joan Gallardo (l), Mary Nallon, Iris Brener and Linda Stone display some of the items to be featured at the Lane of Shops at this Saturday's Fete.

FETE IS SATURDAY

Safari '85 Is Theme. On Saturday the University Fields off Washington Road in West Windsor will be transformed for the Safari '85 Fete. This will be the culmination of a year-long planning effort by 2,000 volunteers.

Seventeen food concessions will offer such items as chicken dinners, fresh clams, tacos, hot dogs, hamburgers and hot baked potatoes with creamy toppings.

Fresh strawberries, x-rated brownies (with a caloric count too high to mention), chocolate fondue and gourmet popcorn are featured desserts. There will also be a variety of frozen casseroles and baked goods to take home.

The Lane of Shops will include four different market areas: the Spotted Giraffe boutique, the Banto Bags and Baskets area, the Keyna Kitchen Shop, and King Solomons's Mines Jewelry. The Sollo to Serengeti art tent will feature the work of area artists.

A wide variety of items will come under the gavel at the auction tent. This area has had six cars, two pianos and an organ donated this year. The Elephant's Trunk flea market will feature usable items such as clothing, books and household goods.

Two hundred Martha Washington geraniums will furnish the garden area, along with hanging baskets, unusual herbs, annuals and statuary. More than 60 shrubs and young trees will be for sale, and garden experts will be available to answer questions. The younger set can test their talents at the fishing pond, paint twirl, needle-in-a-haystack or hula-hoop contest. There will be 29 different activities at the children's area, including the jungle trail, Tarzan's swing and jungle journey. Rides include the covered wagon, ponies and fire engine.

The Big Game Hunt will feature 13 attractions to test the skills of teenagers. Challenges include the obstacle course, can crush and china smash. At the end of the day, grand prize winners will be drawn from all winning tickets. Prizes will include gift certificates, tennis racquets, gym bags and a one-hour tennis lesson.

The eighth annual June Fete 10km Race will begin at 9 a.m., when Stanley Perrine, the mayor of West Windsor, will fire the starting shot. Registrations will be accepted until 8:45 a.m. The fee is $7, and awards include three vacations to the Bermuda Marathon and 10 Km Race in January, 1986, as well as merchandise prizes.

A mini-bus will go to the Fete grounds every half hour, starting at 9:30 a.m. The bus will leave from the Princeton Public Library parking lot and circle around Redding Terrace and the Red Cross Building and Spruce Circle on Harrison Street. Its Fete field stop will be behind the auction tent.

The entrance to the Fete grounds is from Washington Road. There will be a drop-off place in the parking lot and special parking for the handicapped at the hedgerow entrance to the field. A golf cart will be at the hedgerow to take those who have difficulty walking to their cars in the parking lot.

Covered seating areas for getting out of the sun will be in the entertainment tent and at the end of Connoisseurs Corner tent. There is a Baby Comfort Station in a corner of the Toyland Tent in the children's area.

The Fete will have four sets of rest rooms on the field. They will be located behind the Sports Alley, between the entertainment tent and the children's area, and behind the garden and auction areas.

The First Aid tent will be located near the garden area. An information booth will be in the center of the field.

Harrison Street will be closed to traffic from 9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. to let the runners from the 10 km race pass by.

This 32nd annual June Fete is sponsored by the Auxiliary of the Medical Center at Princeton, and proceeds will benefit the Medical Center.

A Sewer Story.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As those who drive Alexander Street are, no doubt, aware, recently a new sewer line has been dug — and almost all of the lucky homeowners have been detached from the old and reattached to the new sewer line.

Right after the diggers and road men had finally departed, I had occasion to enter my cellar and found a small flood. The plumber who answered my call for help reported my hot water heater and furnace boiler intact, nor could he find any leaking pipes, so the flood was soaked up with masses of old newspapers and I returned to the sickbed I had been inhabiting.

The possible explanation for the flood was a surge of water that had flooded and back flooded the valves. This explanation seems to be somewhat like the apocryphal "vapor lock" in a car engine and trotted out when no other answer fits the circumstance.

When another flood appeared several days later, after mopping, the mystery persisted and the possibility of outside water seeping into the cellar was considered. Finally, on Monday when a third flood appeared I heard a drip and, to my horror, discovered that water was dripping from the trap of the sewer line. The plumber was recalled posthaste and set to work with his rotorooter (or whatever). He kept hitting a snag at about 50 feet from the house and since that happened to be the exact distance from the sewer main the coincidence was noted and reported to the Borough Sewer Authority.

After the plumber and the Borough office conversed it became obvious that the Sewer contractor apparently had detached ten sewer lines from the old but only reattached nine lines to the new facility ... and our now open line had been slowly seeping into the sands of Alexander Street and the cellar of our house for a week.

The Borough office, in the persons of Mr. Peters and Mr. Durward, set to work to locate the sewer contractor and after several hours of concentrated effort discovered that he was in Canada and would not return for several days. Then they tried to find any contractor with a backhoe to dig up the errant sewer and tie us in. Finally at commuter time, a crew of men from the sewer department was assembled with backhoe and shovels, and, with commuter traffic on all sides, set to work as darkness fell. After some hairy minutes the street was closed and the digging went apace, the new line was uncovered and the search for our tie-in (or non tie-in, as the case would be) started.

At last the meandering line was laid bare, only to discover that the pipe was an odd size. I don't know what miracles were performed to finally attach us to the sewer main but the continued efforts of Bob Clausen, Dan Mertz, Bruce Stout, Ralph Stevens, and Jim Glover finally achieved success about 11 p.m. and we were "flushed with success." I wish to commend these men for their efforts in our behalf, and for giving up their evening to do a dirty job.

I would like to confine the contractor who couldn't count sewer lines to a private hell of cleaning my cellar with a leaky sieve. It would seem fairly elementary that if ten lines are detached from the old line that reattaching nine to the new leaves something to be desired.

I cannot commend and thank the Borough sewer people enough for their understanding efforts in our behalf. I wish they could teach the contractor to count.

Sometime between the hour of reporting our problem to Mr. Durward at the Sewer Department and the arrival of the work crew, a new patch about five feet square was applied to the road in front of our house. I wonder what the road patch crew thought when they passed that way the next morning and found their patch not only removed, but about 55 square yards of new patch needed.

Sewerfully yours,
ANNE N. POOLE

Wilhelm Memorial.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The following letter has been sent to a group of friends and co-workers of the late Sarah Strayer Wilhelm by five former members of Princeton's school boards. We believe that others in the community may be interested in our project, since Mrs. Wilhelm's friends and admirers numbered many people who are not known to us.

This is an invitation to you to join us in establishing a living memorial to Sarah Strayer Wilhelm — "Boo" to her hundreds of friends in Princeton — in the form of an award for good citizenship to be given annually to the graduating senior at Princeton High School who best exemplifies Mrs. Wilhelm's service to others.

Mrs. Wilhelm's contributions to our community were many, but none demonstrated her personal qualities of courage, integrity and wisdom more clearly than her years of service on the Borough Board of Education and her efforts toward the merger of the community's two school systems. She brought the same qualities to her work for Family Service, the Adult School and the Council of Community Services, where she was particularly active as leader of the Youth Concerns Committee.

In recognition of this lifetime of service to Princeton, we, who are all former members of Princeton's school boards, have decided to establish this award as an appropriate and lasting memorial. We want future generations of Princetonians to know that this community values such contributions and that we especially cherish a person who gives herself so unstintingly to others as Mrs. Wilhelm did.

We plan to invest whatever is contributed in a suitable and safe manner, and from the income to make an award of $100 or $150, or even two awards if the amount is sufficient.

The selection will be made by a committee of Princeton High School faculty and students, and the award will be presented at the High School Class Night ceremony.

Contributions may be sent to the Sarah Strayer Wilhelm Fund, Princeton Regional Board of Education, Box 711, Princeton, N.J. 08540.

Tire Altercation. A Philadelphia resident, Charles Squire, 45, has been charged with assault, following an altercation with an attendant at Larry's Sunoco service station on Nassau Street.

According to Chief Michael Carnevale, who was off-duty at the time and observed the altercation, Squire had come to pick up a tire he had left at the station to be repaired. The 20-year-old attendant told him he knew nothing about it and a scuffle developed between the two. They rolled locked together on the floor and a display within the station was knocked over before they could be pulled apart by Chief Carnevale and another customer.

The attendant complained of an injured shoulder and bad back. He did not go to the hospital at first but went later for treatment, Chief Carnevale reported.

Squire was taken to police headquarters by Sgt. William Clark and Ptl. Mark Stillitano, charged, and later released. He faces a court hearing here on July 17.

CAR IS TOTALLED

Driver Charged With DWI. Cynthia A. Brooks, 27, 561 State Road, has been charged with driving while intoxicated, after her car struck a pole early in the morning last week on Route 206 near the intersection of Birch Avenue.

A witness to the 1:10 a.m. accident, who was following the Brooks car, told Ptl. David Cromwell that it was swerving back and forth across the highway before striking the pole. The 1980 Toyota was "totalled" by the impact.

Ms. Brooks was taken for treatment of head injuries to Princeton Medical Center where a sample of her blood was taken for police analysis.

When a car stopped suddenly in front of Luigi DiMeglio last week, to turn into Johnson Park Lane, Mr. DiMeglio took evasive action to try to avoid a rear collision.

In so doing, the 51-year-old resident of Oppossum Road in Skillman left the roadway. His Bronco went down an eight-foot bank, struck a tree and had to be towed from the scene.

Mr. DiMeglio suffered a concussion and was taken to the Medical Center. He told Ptl. Stephan Hogancamp that he was not able to describe the other car except that it was dark-colored. The mishap took place at 8:38 in the morning.

2 TEENAGERS SUSPECTS

In Camera Thefts. Two 14-year-old Princeton residents are suspects in the theft of camera equipment from the Terrace Club on Prospect Avenue.

According to police, a student saw two teenagers behind the club with a duffle bag and pillow case stuffed with stolen property. The student, police said, recovered the property and got the name of one of the youths.

Police determined that camera equipment valued in excess of $800 and an $80 portable cassette were taken from the club. Five club members were victims.

The investigation into the burglary is being continued by the Borough juvenile officer.

When Hun School student Chris Heltai returned to school Sunday for graduation ceremonies after a four-day absence, he discovered photo equipment missing from his room.

Missing, police said, are a camera, two lenses, a camera bag and four rolls of film, with a combined value of $651. Although the door to the room was locked, police report no sign of any forced entry.

Tractor-Trailer Recovered. A tractor-trailer that had been stolen June 1 from Lawrence Township was recovered last week in the Township in a lot at 601 Ewing Street.

Police identified the owner as a Winston-Salem, N.C. firm which was notified and asked to come pick up the trailer.

SMOKE FILLS HOUSE

Spontaneous Fire Blamed. The home of Horton Davies, 120 McCosh Circle, filled with smoke Friday night when a pile of linseed oil-soaked rags in a kitchen cabinet apparently ignited spontaneously.

Police in responding to a 10:15 call, found the rags, which the owner reported had been used for cleaning and dusting.

A check of the rest of the house by firemen revealed no other fire. They used exhaust fans to clear the house of smoke.

RECEPTION IS PLANNED

For University Employees. Princeton University will honor 43 members of the non-academic staff at a reception to be given by President William G. Bowen this Wednesday.

The employees are being recognized for having completed 25 years or more of service to the University during 1984-85. Each veteran employee will receive a captain's chair with a reproduction of the Princeton seal and an inscribed bronze plate attached.

The annual event honors members of the administrative and support staffs, professional librarians and pro-

PU Graduates Showered with Pamphlets

While Princeton University graduation ceremonies were in progress Tuesday morning, a low-flying plane bombarded the area with pamphlets. One of the leaflets, all of which bore unflattering messages, read in bold letters, "Princeton S—S! Have a nice day."

It went down hill from there. Borough Captain John J. Bellow, who retrieved a number of the pamphlets, commented, "Whoever did it, knew what he was doing." The pilot scored a bulls-eye as the pamphlets fluttered down on Palmer Square, the intersection of Nassau and Witherspoon Streets, the PSI parking lot and on the campus green itself.

Capt. Bellow said it was impossible to estimate the number that fell but he added, "It looked like an awful lot. They covered the whole area."

The action violated both Borough and state anti-litter laws and an FAA rule as well, police said, because the plane was flying below 500 feet.

"The incident will be investigated by this department," commented Chief Michael Carnevale. "If we are able to identify who is responsible, appropriate charges will be made. We will also investigate if an FAA violation occurred."

The culprit? Probably a senior who didn't like his grades, said one wag.

SPEEDERS ARE FINED

In Borough Court. Eight Princeton area residents were fined for speeding Monday in Borough traffic court.

Fined $70 each were Diane E. Bryant, 23 Greenbrook Drive, Cranbury; Marlene A. McCollum, 23 N. Greenwood Avenue, Hopewell; Kevin M. Pratt, 30 Chestnut Street; Patricia M. Heeg, 57 Finley Road; Pamela Woodward, 656 Blawenburg Road, Skillman; and Florence Sharpless, 644 State Road. Thomas Friedeborn, 4 Florham Drive, Lawrenceville, paid $80 and Patricia C. Compton, 69 Thoreau Drive, Plainsboro, paid $60.

Irving T. Blount, Hollingmead Road, and David W. Carpenter, 12 Cresthill Road, Lawrenceville, were fined $75 and $60 respectively for careless driving. Elizabeth A. Suydam, RD4, Princeton, paid $35 for failure to report an accident.

In Borough criminal court last week, Lance Savage, 12 Shirley Court, was fined $40 for theft and an additional $25 to be paid to the Violent Crime Compensation Board.

In Township Court last week, John W. Odea, 141 Hed Hill Road, was fined $75 for careless driving, and Jimmy Moise, 230 Witherspoon Street, $40, for no insurance.

Fran Trani, 141 Snowden Lane, was fined a total of $100 on two separate charges involving violations of the Township's dog ordinances.

OPEN HOUSE SET

At New PCDI Headquarters. The Princeton Child Development Institute (PCDI) will hold an Open House on Friday from 3 to 5 p.m. to celebrate the dedication of its new educational and research headquarters at 300 Cold Soil Road in Princeton. The public is invited to enjoy refreshments and to tour the facility, which has been designed especially for the treatment of autistic and other developmentally disabled children.

Under construction for a year, the new headquarters was designed by architect Barry Brommer, who worked in conjunction with the PCDI professional staff to meet the special treatment and educational needs of autistic youngsters.

Situated on five acres of farmland, the building combines the atmosphere of a country setting with modern technology for educating the disabled.

Special distraction-free spaces for one-to-one classes, "normal" classrooms that facilitate the children's transitions into public schools, special parent-training areas, and a comprehensive but discreet video system are some of the special features.

The Princeton Child Development Institute was founded in 1971. Last year, the Council for American Private Education identified the Institute as one of the top private schools in the country, one of only two special education schools to be named to the Council's list of Exemplary Private Schools.

PCDI, a pioneer in the education and treatment of autistic children, now reports the mainstreaming of 67 percent of

IT'S NEW TO US

THE FRESHEST PRODUCE

At Terhune Orchards. While a visit to Terhune Orchards may elicit warm feelings of a less complicated era now past, there is nothing old-fashioned about the way Pam and Gary Mount run their orchard — the largest in Mercer County. The latest techniques in agricultural development, time and energy saving and cost-efficient methods are employed by the Mounts, who bought the orchard ten years ago.

It is a joy to visit because of its pastoral setting and quiet charm, and an interesting place to witness some of the latest developments in harvesting and preserving apples, peaches, pears, and berries.

Weekly jaunts to Terhune's, located at 330 Cold Soil Road, off Carter Road, are a ritual for many Princeton families. They enjoy the delicious farm-fresh apple cider pressed each day in the apple building, scrumptious cider doughnuts made daily, and the opportunity to pick their own fruit, vegetables and flowers grown in Pam Mount's garden. It is a truly special place which delights the hearts of children and adults alike.

While farming is a serious business for the Mounts, they both feel strongly about the aesthetics of maintaining an orchard and produce shop surrounded by farm animals — a homey welcoming place for the whole community to enjoy.

"We are not a museum, but a growing business — but we take care to keep the farm the way people want it. It is a special corner of Princeton and quality is superb."

WELL-DESERVED REST: Pam Mount of Terhune Orchards and her two daughters, Reuwel and Tannwen, have been working hard in her flower and herb gardens where customers come to enjoy and cut stems.

we are caretakers of what has become a community institution," says the young Mrs. Mount, an active participant in community affairs. She recently accepted the two-year position of president of the board of the YWCA.

Old-Fashioned Atmosphere. She and her husband have clearly succeeded in maintaining a wonderful old-fashioned atmosphere, complete with a backyard full of fresh cutting flowers and herbs, a barnyard and chicken coop which house farm animals for the youngsters to feed, and a shop full of all the fine produce New Jersey has to offer. School

The orchard is open seven days a week, so those in pursuit of some of the best doughnuts in town will be happy to know that they are baked each morning. Several delightful events for the public take place throughout the year, such as Kite Day, Apple Day — when the public is invited to celebrate the harvest, pick apples, square dance, and enjoy hayrides and pony rides — and a Christmas celebration. Pet-a-pet classes encourage children to feel the wool of a sheep, comb a pony, and sit on a donkey. June 27 is the next date for this event.

Terhune's has become more productive over the years because of the controlled atmosphere which preserves the apples harvested in the fall all winter long. Thirty varieties of apples are picked from July to November; 45 types of yellow and white peaches will be available beginning next month; and six varieties of pears will appear by August.

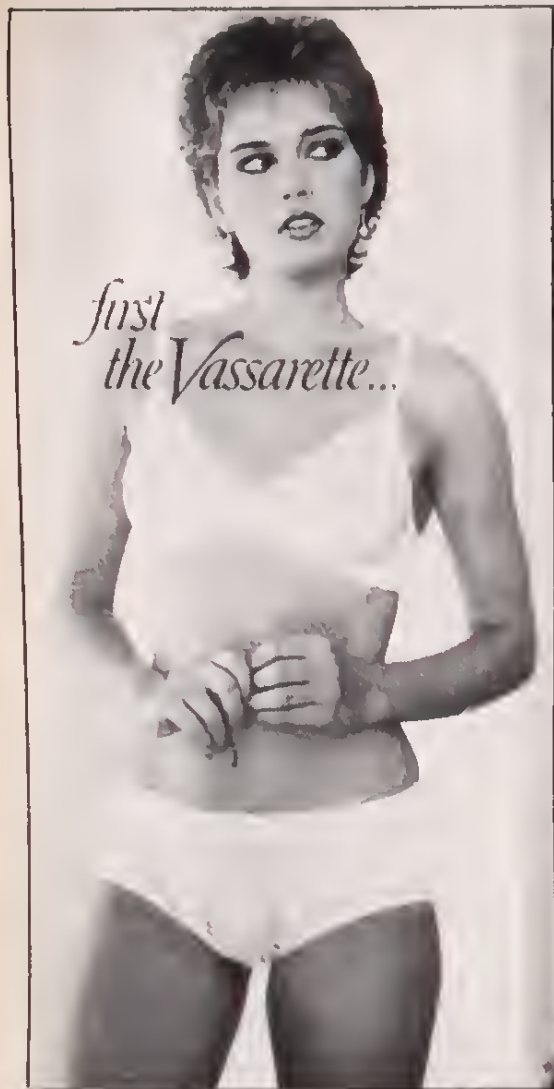

"If one shops smartly and buys all of the terrific produce available here in New Jersey, fresh produce is not expensive and it is so much healthier than frozen vegetables. It is surely worth the time and preparation," says Mr. Mount, who has local lettuce, strawberries, spinach, broccoli, cauliflower, and fresh asparagus, as well as produce from around the country. It is evident that the vegetables are chosen with care.

Apples the Staple. Apples are the staple at Terhune's, a bargain by most standards at 49 cents a pound, and 38 cents per pound for a half-bushel basket. The apple barn is open from 9 to 7 daily and from 10 to 6 on Saturdays and Sundays.

Pick-your-own apples, raspberries and pumpkins days have become a favorite for Princeton residents, and a big draw for visitors to the area. The Mounts' Apple Farm on Van Kirk Road, has 26 acres of dwarf apple trees.

"These are the days that memories are made of. Children and adults bob for apples, pick fruits and flowers and get in touch with the land again. It is nice for people who live in condominiums who don't have the chance to be in open spaces," explains Mrs. Mount.

She was an art major in college, while her husband studied at Princeton University. They have both put much thought and effort into their business. He heads the Mercer County Agriculture Development Board, devoted to preserving farm land in the area.

Pam Mount obviously has an artistic bent when it comes to gardening. Witness the lovely gardens which surround the apple barn, full of herbs and flowers to be cut for 10 cents a stem. Their three children — Reuwai, Tannwen and Mark — are active farmers too.

Gift baskets filled with fruits, jams, and vegetables are made to order at Terhune's. Home-baked pies can be bought frozen or freshly baked. Do not forget to pick up a free copy of the weekly recipe. Flats of flowers, bedding plants and herbs are also available in the market.

A BIKING INSTITUTION
Kopp's Cycles. Not to be outdone by foreign bicycle manufacturers, Schwinn has introduced a new lightweight line of touring bikes, which can be found at Kopp's Cycle. The shop, dating back to 1891, has become something of an institution in town.

Owned by Fred Kuhn since 1950, the bicycle store enjoys a fine reputation because of the high standards of its proprietor and his two children, Charlie and Marie, who manage the store. Kopp's Cycle moved to 43 Witherspoon Street a few years ago, where it is always a hub of activity as prospective buyers stop in to see what is new in the world of bicycle technology. Customers are also well aware of the fact that they may be the recipients of one of Fred Kuhn's lectures on opting for quality components when purchasing a new bike.

"The Schwinn lightweights are the most aggressively priced bikes we have seen in ten years. Because the quality is so excellent and the prices are so low, they are selling as fast as we receive them," says Charlie Kuhn, who teams up with his sister to assemble the latest model. A broken foot set in a cast has not daunted Marie Kuhn, who still puts in long hours on her feet working in the shop.

Both of the Kuhns, two of seven children in the family, are top-notch bike mechanics. They and their father have just received masters' degrees in cycle engineering from the European Cycle Institute, which recently certified the shop.

Priced between $150 and $250, the Schwinn lightweights have many of the features of a custom racing bike, such as alloy rims, high pressure tires, and Shimano derailleurs with a rear spoke barrier cage to help prevent damage to a rear wheel, yet maintain a sturdy quality suitable for biking around town. The world model, in maroon or black, is for the mature rider, while the sprint offers a younger rider four diamond frame models, three step-through frames, and a choice of two colors, red or blue.

For those who prefer the traditional upright handlebars, the 10-speed world tourist is the perfect choice. It combines chrome-moly tubing, alloy rims with front quick-release wheels, and a Schwinn system of alloy shift levers and Dia-Compe brake lever extensions for ultimate control.

Of course, Kopp's continues to feature Schwinn's full line of bicycles for everyone in the family, from a tiny powder-pink 16-inch one to a slick dirt bike, to the Air-dyne for the indoor sportsperson. A superb collection of bicycles by Peugeot and Miyata, ranging in price from $330 to $1000, are the envy of the experienced cyclists who frequent the shop.

Sponsor of Racers. Kopp's sponsors a racing team throughout the year and watches with keen interest as their proteges participate in top-class events throughout the country. Matthew Willis, a resident of Princeton, has the "makings of a champion" he was recently sponsored in the grand prix series of road racing, the 7-Eleven cup series, a group of events for the best racers in the country. The young Mr. Willis raced in Somerville and placed third in the Tour of Nutley.

Charlie Kuhn will take Kopp's Century Club of America to Europe this fall to participate in events in England and Belgium. He is encouraged by the performance of Tom Pinneo an "up and coming cyclist" in his opinion.

Kopp's offers a complete line of professional gear for cyclists, including touring shorts for the serious rider, colorful European racing team shirts with logos of international teams, racing shoes, helmets by Bell, Kiwi, and Brancole, and all of the clothing which was introduced at the 1984 Olympics. Backpacks by Eastpak and several other designs necessary to successful touring are all found at Kopp's.

The shop has planned several biking trips for customers who will travel to Europe with their bicycles this summer, taking advantage of the strong dollar.

One of the hottest new bikes on the market, the 3-Athlete, geared for use in the 3-Athlete events, is "as effective a professional racing bike as is available," according to Charlie Kuhn. Priced at $895, it boasts Campagnolo equipment.

Hours at Kopp's are from 10 to 6 daily, and until 7 on Fridays.

MORE OPEN SPACE

Smaller Units. Township Committee adopted amendments to its cluster housing ordinance Monday night. The amendments, which were developed by a subcommittee of the Planning Board, are designed to result in tighter clustering of homes by a developer who elects the optional cluster provision and in a greater variety of housing types.

Specifically, the ordinance increases from 40 to 60 percent the amount of "contiguous" open space the developer must leave when he elects the greater bonus density available under the cluster option in larger zone residential areas. In addition, the amendments adopted 4-1 Monday night stipulate that 20 percent of the units must be town-houses of less than 1,500 square feet and 20 percent less than 2,000 square feet.

Committeeman Thomas Poole, Committee's representative to the Planning Board, voted "no" to the amendments without declaring his reason. Committeeman William Cherry offered an amendment which would give the developer the option of building single family units of the same modest square footage. At the suggestion of Mayor Winthrop S. Pike, Committee — except for Mr. Poole — agreed to adopt the amendments as already drawn and ask the Planning Board to comment on Mr. Cherry's proposal as a further amendment.

Committee also tabled an ordinance reducing from 4 to 3 the number of Township "Class III" or mayor-appointed citizen representatives to the Planning Board. Borough Council, Committee learned, is leaning toward a citizen composition on the board of three members plus an alternate. The Planning Board itself is seeking to reduce the total number on the board as a way of increasing efficiency and obtaining consensus more readily and has gone on record as being opposed to a system of alternates.

Changes in Housing. Three substantive changes to the affordable housing ordinance have been proposed by housing consultant Alan Mallach, Planning Board Attorney Gerald Muller, and Township Attorney Edwin W. Schmierer. According to Mr. Mallach, these changes, coming shortly after a batch of "technical" amendments adopted last month, are in part the result of discussions with Princeton Community Housing (PCH) board members on the feasibility of building low and moderate income housing on a particular R-H (residential high density) site which PCH hopes to do on the Peterson tract.

One of the proposed changes would repeal the median-priced housing provisions that presently apply to R-H sites. These provisions, adopted in the 1970's as an effort to provide lower cost housing in the wake of the first Mount Laurel decision, are seen today by Township planners as not being applicable under Mount Laurel II and perhaps interfering with efforts to build low and moderate income housing on these sites.

Repeal of the median-priced option was intended last November by the planners as

HOW CAN WE WIN? Morris (left), Jon (center) and Micky Landis discuss winning strategies for the eighth annual June Fete 10 km race, which begins at 9 a.m. on Saturday. a complementary action to the adoption of the affordable and the Somerset Expressway. But the attorney for Dr. Chester Peterson, owner of one of the original R-H tracts, successfully persuaded Committee not to repeal the option, arguing that it would meet Mount Laurel II requirements.

Monday night Committee voted to ask Mr. Schmierer to draw up an amendment repealing the median-priced housing option. Committeewoman Barbara Cantrill abstained without comment on this and another vote, to "decontrol" the middle-income units provided for the R-H zone in the affordable housing ordinance and permit these units to be built and sold at market levels.

A third change approved by Committee would permit developers in the R-M zones, under certain circumstances and with the approval of the Housing Board and Township Committee, to make a cash or land contribution in lieu of the mandated affordable housing units. Payment of a fee in lieu of constructing units would be permitted only when the Housing Board finds that the fee would serve the purposes of the housing program better than would building additional units.

Committee also spent time in work session going over suggestions for the housing board rules and regulations.

Mayor Pike reported on a meeting held Monday among the mayors of four municipalities and representatives of the New Jersey Department of Transportation on proposals for S-92 and the widening of Route 206. Present were the mayors of Princeton Borough and Township, Rocky Hill and Montgomery, as well as the new DOT commissioner, Roger Bodman, and a large staff from the DOT.

Mayor Pike reported "receptivity" on the part of Commissioner Bodman to the proposals from all four municipalities on bending S-92 from Route 27 north to join the Somerville Expressway rather than terminating at Route 206. The mayors also told the Commissioner of their opposition to the re-routing of a four-lane Route 206 behind the Princeton Airport.

However, Mayor Pike told Committee that he felt the longtime DOT staff members "were not as sympathetic" to the municipal proposals as their new boss seemed to be. "We will just have to wait and see," Mayor Pike said with a sigh, adding that Commissioner Bodman had agreed to meet with the group again. The environmental impact statement for S-92 is due this fall, the mayor reported, followed in time by similar reports for Route 206 widening and the Somerset Expressway.

In other business, Mayor Pike named Sallie Griffin and George Adriance to the Ad Hoc Historic Sites Committee. A new Township municipal garbage collection district, District 6 in the Dodds Lane area, was created by ordinance in advance of the closing of the River Road refuse transfer station on July 1.

WATCH YOUR SCALE!

with Sam DeTuro
Woodwinds Associates

And we don't mean your weight!! June is the time for scale insects who setting down sucking plant juices causing damage to trees, shrubs and other vegetative life. During the crawling stage, before they have encased themselves in an armor-like covering, they are the most vulnerable. Not all scale insects crawl at the same time, but a great number of them do during June and July. Spray with a good contact insecticide; two applications 10 to 14 days apart are usually necessary.

Scale insects come in different colors and various shapes. A Juniper scale looks like a tiny fried egg white with a yellow center. Rhododendron scale is tan in color, almost circular in shape and infests both leaf and stem. The scale on the holly is hard, round, dark gray with an orange center. Yew scale is soft, looks like a gumdrop on a twig. Pine needle scale is white and elongated.

As with other tree and plant pests, WOODWINDS (924-3500) reminds the homeowner that any weakening caused by scale can be combated with deep root feeding to encourage new and vigorous growth. Call us at any time with your tree and shrub problems.

OBITUARIES

William Flemer Jr., 89, owner of Princeton Nurseries, died June 9 in Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Kenilworth, Mr. Flemer lived in Springfield, where his father, the first William Flemer, had started the tree-growing operation that became Princeton Nurseries, one of the largest wholesalers of trees and shrubs in the nation. As Springfield became built up and additional lands were sought further south, the nursery shifted to this area.

Mr. Flemer Jr. took over the operation of the nurseries in Kingston about 1914 and had lived in the Kingston-Plainsboro area ever since. Two sons and some of his grandchildren ultimately joined him in running Princeton Nurseries. Mr. Flemer was one of the founders, a charter member and past president of the New Jersey Nurserymen's Association and was past president of the Ornamental Tree Growers Association.

He was elected to the executive committee of the American Association of Nurserymen in 1922 and was elected president in 1928. Mr. Flemer was named to the Nurserymen's Hall of Fame in 1968.

He attended Rutgers University and was a volunteer in the Princeton University Army Ambulance Unit in World War I. He was awarded the French Croix de Guerre in 1918 for courage and heroism under fire. In 1930 he founded the Kingston Water Co. and operated the company until it was absorbed by Elizabethtown Water Co. in 1984.

Mr. Flemer was a former member of the Plainsboro Township Planning Board and former chairman of the Middlesex County Planning Board. A charter member of American Legion Post No. 76 of Princeton, he was a member and president of the board of trustees of the Kingston Presbyterian Church for many years.

He was a member of the Kingston Fire Co., Princeton Lodge No. 38 F&AM, the Nassau Club, the Historical Society of Princeton and the Old Guard.

Husband of the late Emma Louise Wilkinson Flemer, and father of the late John W. Flemer, he is survived by his wife, Helen S. Flemer; two sons, William Flemer III of Kingston and Stevenson Flemer of Waitsfield, Vt.; a sister, Helen Bensley of Summit; nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

International, both of Princeton.

Former wife of the late John T. McCulloch, she is survived by two daughters, Barbara M. Bloodworth of Princeton and Cynthia A. McCulloch of Kingston; and a son, John C. McCulloch of Flagstaff, Ariz.

A memorial service will be held Saturday at 10:30 in the Niles Chapel of Nassau Presbyterian Church. Memorial contributions may be made to Cabrini Hospice, Cabrini Medical Center, in care of Dorothy Tynan, 227 East 19th Street, New York, N.Y.

YOUTH GET TOGETHER

From Many Churches. Forty-four teenagers and 13 youth counselors from eight area churches gathered recently at Mercer County Park for a day of fun, food and fellowship.

Activities included competitive softball and volleyball; new games such as earthball soccer and three-legged races; traditional tug-of-war across the creek; and fishing. Lunch was a barbecue and the day was concluded with an informal worship led by Rev. John M. Goerss of Messiah Lutheran Church.

As part of the worship Messiah Lutheran youth pantomimed "The Ragman," a parable by Walter Wangerin Jr., and led the group in song. Planners for the event were the Rev. Steve Williams of Nassau Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Steve Harrison of Princeton United Methodist Church, the Rev. Robert Slusher of Plainsboro Presbyterian Church, and Dr. Kay Goerss of Messiah Lutheran. Other participating churches were Witherspoon Presbyterian Church, First Baptist Church of Princeton, Prince of Peace Lutheran Church of Princeton Junction, and First Presbyterian Church of Hightstown.

The event grew out of the work of a group of youth ministers and youth coordinators who have been meeting on a monthly basis for the past nine months. The group is open to all youth workers from churches in the greater Princeton-Plainsboro area. For more information, contact Rev. Steve Williams at Nassau Presbyterian Church, 924-0103.

RENEWAL SET

For Catholic Parishes. Renew, a diocesan-wide program stressing spiritual renewal and a greater sense of community in each parish, is coming to St. Paul's Church active as well as inactive members of the parish.

The program will begin in September and will last 2½ years. In preparation for this program, the Renew team has been meeting frequently and has attended an initial weekend at Scanticon as well as having completed four training sessions at Sacred Heart Church in Trenton. The Renew coordinators are Jean Canning for St. Paul's and Sue McSorley for Aquinas Institute.

Eleven committees which make up the Renew organization in each parish have been formed and are making plans for the opening season in September. The Prayer Committee, headed by Mary Callery, has already held one prayer meeting and is planning an expanded prayer network. Ken and Marilyn Henry are chairing the Youth Group and will coordinate its activities along with the parish programs.

The Sunday Liturgy Committee, directed by George Hoemann, is making plans for special services and enhanced Sunday liturgy celebrations. James Callery heads the Large Group Committee, which will schedule meetings with speakers, workshops, discus-

Deathtrap is about a successful writer of Broadway thrillers, who, struggling to overcome a dry spell, is prepared to go to any lengths to improve his fortunes. The plot unfolds with twists and turns and sudden shocks in a blending of thrills and laughter.

The director is Susan Kerner, who also directed the Levin Theater Company's productions of Top Girls, Talley's Folly and A Couple White Chicks Sitting Around Talking.

Performances will be given at 8 p.m. June 18-23 and June 25-30.

The summer series will continue with two new plays by Milcha Sanchez-Scott, Dog Lady and The Cuban Swimmer, running July 9-21. The works provide a whacky look at two attractive young women out to prove there is no barrier so great it can't be overcome by a dream of success. The director will be John Bettenbender, founder and artistic director of the Levin Theater Company.

The season will close with Neil Simon's The Good Doctor, running July 20-August 11. Simon adapted the vignettes in this collection from the short stories of Anton Chekhov. Edward Stern will direct.

Subscriptions are available at a savings of more than 30 percent over single ticket prices for the season. The price of a subscription ranges from $18 to $25 for the general public and from $13 to $20 for students, senior citizens and members of the Rutgers community.

To order subscriptions or single tickets or for further details, call the Levin Theater box office at (201) 932-9892 from noon to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, or from noon till curtain time on production Saturdays and Sundays. No performances will be given on Mondays.

WORKS ARE DANCED

At Ballet Festival. Princeton Ballet II, the pre-professional training company of Princeton Ballet, performed two original works at the Northeast Regional Ballet Festival in Dover, Del. Of 52 works shown, only 19 were selected by the National Association for Regional Ballet judges to be honored in performance at the Festival.

Choreographer Sherry Alban, recipient of a New Jersey Council on the Arts Fellowship Award, had her work "Stillmotion" performed by Princeton Ballet II. It is set to the music of Antonio Vivaldi. Miss Alban, a charter member of The Princeton Ballet Society, is a teacher at The School of The Princeton Ballet and is also on the faculty of the Mason Gross School of the Arts in New Brunswick.

Featured in the Young Choreographers Showcase at the Festival was a work by Anne Woodside, a graduating senior at Princeton High School. Miss Woodside's work, "She's the One!...?", set to the music of Bruce Springsteen, was danced by the professional company at a recent lecture/demonstration in New Brunswick High School.

Miss Woodside is a member of Princeton Ballet II and is an apprentice with the professional company.

Auditions. Princeton Ballet II will hold open auditions June 16 at the Princeton Studios at 262 Alexander

He is known for having one of the most expressive tenors in contemporary music and for his interpretations of the traditional songs of Scotland and Ireland.

Manus Lunny is an accomplished vocalist and performer on both the guitar and bouzouki. For the past two years he has been a member of Wild Geese, a traditional band which has toured extensively in Britain and on the Continent.

POPS CONCERT JULY 4

Tickets Available. The New Jersey Symphony will present its annual outdoor Fourth of July Pops Concert here on Thursday, July 4, at 7:30 at the Princeton University fields next to Stadium Gym.

The concert will be "An American Salute," featuring works with regional American themes, and will conclude with a fireworks display. The first half of the program will include Morton Gould's American Salute and "A Little Bit of Sin" and "Jubilee" from his Spirituals for Orchestra; Wallingford Riegger's Dance Rhythms; the second movement of Howard Hanson's Symphony No. 2, and the rarely performed Battle of Trenton, written in 1797 by James Hewitt, which is a rousing musical depiction of Washington's victory over the Hessians.

The second portion of the program will feature highlights from Showboat by Jerome Kern and Oscar Hammerstein III. Featured singers will be Martha Elliot, soprano; William Eichorn, tenor, and Jack Lanning, bass. All three soloists are members of the June Opera Festival company and will appear in this summer's production of Don Giovanni.

The concert will conclude with Richard Rodgers' Carousel Waltz, and two selections from Ferde Grofe's Grand Canyon Suite. Garyth Nair, assistant conductor of the NJSO, will conduct.

SUMMER AT SQUIBB

Indoor/Outdoor Exhibit. The Squibb Gallery will open its first summer-long exhibition Sunday with a selection of art that will continually change in appearance.

The work is by seven artists prominent in an emerging new art form called Actualism. Actual art employs time, and the change inherent in all materials, in the same way traditional art uses color, dimension, space or any other visual element. Actual artists start works of art, nature finishes them. Change is no longer equated with destruction.

"Time Will Tell," on display in the gallery and on its adjoining terrace through September 3, is curated by Valerie Shakespeare, Director of the Actual Art Foundation in New York City.

Artists in the exhibition are Helene Aylon, Terry Fugate-Wilcox, Sandy Gellis, Nathan Slate Joseph, Forrest Myers, Richard Thatcher and Merrill Wagner.

Helen Aylon creates intricate crystalline structures that become deeper and more intricately patterned with time by using oils and pigments on canvas or on the paper coverings of acrylic.

Terry Fugate-Wilcox invites viewers to touch his works which he creates from metal leaf, metallic powders on steel, lead, glass, wood and a variety of other materials. One piece in the Squibb exhibition shows the effect of gravity over time.

Rust, ground metals, metallic salts and graphite are used by Sandy Gellis to create "gardens" and condensed landscapes that respond to humidity with crystalline growth and changing colors.

Nathan Slate Joseph and Forrest Myers create with metal. Joseph paints with corrosion, using weathered metal to assemble brilliantly colored wall reliefs. Myers mates corroded, chemically treated or polished metal to produce wall panels.

Statements about change appear in Richard Thatcher's use of photographic materials and processes, and in comparisons of weathering on slate, steel and other materials by Merrill Wagner, who has taught at Princeton University.

"AT HOME IN ROME"

Art Association Trip. The Princeton Art Association has scheduled a trip to Italy from October 11 through 26.

Participants will be guests at the Casale Sonnino in the Alban hills, the home of Clo Treves, a native of the area and a Princeton resident. The Casale is located in Monte Porzio Catone, about 15 miles from Rome, and is well situated for day trips to such places as Villa d'Este, Hadrian's Villa, Ostia Antica, and the Abruzzi.

Comfortable accommodations, a background of flowers and vineyards, and gourmet meals — including Frascati wine from the Casale's vineyards — are promised. There will be five day-tours to places of historic interest, guided by Ms. Treves.

Stephen Kennedy, PAA faculty member, will be artist-in-residence during the trip. Early reservations are requested, since only ten guests

CREW TO CINCINNATI

For Race This Saturday. Princeton's heavyweight crew will get its third shot at defeating Harvard this Saturday, when the two meet along with the University of Washington in the National Invitational Championships in Cincinnati.

There is more riding on the race than mere pride. The winning crew will get a free trip to the Henley Royal Regatta in England in early July. The losers will have to pay their own way.

Regardless of the outcome of the race, both the Princeton and Harvard crews are headed for Henley. Alumni and friends groups at both universities have announced they will provide the financial support for their crew if it loses at Cincinnati. The Tiger Lightweights are also headed there as well.

The heavyweights traveled to England as recently as last summer, but did not win their division.

The Tigers first loss to Harvard came on April 20 on the Charles River in Cambridge by one length. The Crimson prevailed again at the Eastern Sprints in Worcester, Mass. in the middle of May.

Coach Larry Gluckman's oarsmen earned their trip to Cincinnati with their triumph at Syracuse, June 2, in the IRA Regatta. Harvard does not compete in that race.

This past Saturday, the Captains defeated Yale for the first time in four years in their traditional regatta held on the Thames River in New London, Conn.

Members of Princeton's heavyweight crew include: Joe Daugherty, coxswain; Harold Backer, David Saxen, Chris Penny, Doug Surden, Bill Sheehan, Michael Vatis, Evan Corcoran and Greg Guyett.

KUDOS ALL AROUND: The PDS lacrosse team's championship season produced several individual honors for six of its players and its coach, something very difficult to attain in past seasons. Eric Bylin, (left) and Tom Foster (sitting) became the first players in the school's history to be named all-American in voting by the state's coaches. Bylin, Foster and Sean Fisher (right) also were chosen first team, all-state, another first for the school. David Haynes (second from right) and Bill Noonan and Charlie Jaques (missing from picture) received second team, all-state recognition. And behind the awing is coach Bob Krueger, who was voted New Jersey lacrosse coach of the year by his peers. PDS's only all-state selection before this year was John Drezner, who was named to the second team.

CALDWELL HONORED

With Robert Peters Award. The late Charles W. Caldwell '25, who coached both baseball and football at Princeton following World War II and who was one of the premier pitchers in Tiger diamond history, has become the second recipient of the Robert L. Peters Jr. '42 Award.

The presentation was made to Caldwell's surviving children, Charles W. Caldwell III and Mrs. Robert G. Greeley, prior to the annual alumni-graduate baseball game on Clarke Field last Saturday.

Established jointly by the Class of 1942 and by the Friends of Princeton Baseball, the Peters award strengthens the baseball program at Princeton by honoring an alumnus each year for significant contributions to the athletic community and for later-life accomplishments. The 1984 winner was former Commissioner of Baseball Bowie Kuhn '48.

Despite his reputation as a football coach, Caldwell has been singled out by his contemporaries for his excellence on the diamond. His career included a distinguished tenure as a Princeton pitcher-outfielder, a brief trial as a pitcher in the New York Yankee system, and a highly successful run as a collegiate baseball coach.

During twelve years as Williams College's mentor, he led his teams to a record of 91 wins and 70 losses and to eight Little Three Championships. On his return to Princeton in 1945, Caldwell directed the Tiger nine for two seasons. His 1945 team captured the Eastern Intercollegiate League title despite a .203 team batting mark when it led the league in runs scored, runs batted in and stolen bases.

A fine all-around athlete at Yonkers (N.Y.) High School and at Mercersburg Academy, Caldwell broke into the Princeton lineup as a sophomore both pitching and in the outfield. Winning his first seven games, Caldwell compiled a mark of 8-1 as a sophomore, batted .240 and contributed three home runs.

His junior season showed a pitching log of ten victories against three defeats and a batting average of .265. He came within one out of pitching a no-hit game against Dartmouth on University Field. Later, he out-duelled Yale's Raymond "Ducky" Pand to hand the Elis a 1-0 setback.

520-Foot Home Run. His full potential was realized during the 1925 season when Caldwell played more often in the outfield. While his pitching record fell to 7-6, he compiled a batting mark of .438. Among his feats was a home run against Harvard which stood to the end of University Field's days as the longest recorded blow on that diamond, some 520 feet.

His outstanding accomplishments as an undergraduate player — a three-year pitching log of 25 victories and only 10 defeats and a cumulative batting average of .325 — stamped him as a truly fine player, a fact underlined by the interest shown in him by the New York Yankees at a time when that team was rapidly building toward greatness.

Caldwell's Hall of Fame football coaching career has tended to obscure the fact that, as a Princeton undergraduate, his baseball talents were generally more widely acclaimed than were his football feats.

In establishing this award, the Class of 1942 and the Friends of Princeton Baseball are honoring one of Princeton's outstanding graduates. Peters' credentials as an undergraduate spanned a broad scale. Regimental Commander of the ROTC, he joined the baseball team as a senior and drove in seven runs (four on a grand slam home run) in the 12-8 Reunion win

One of the greatest performances ever seen on a golf course happened in the 1960 U.S. Open when the legend of Arnold Palmer was born ... Going into the last 18 holes of that Open, Palmer was so far from the lead that 14 other golfers stood between him and first place ... But Palmer shot a 65 on those last 18 holes and passed ALL 14 golfers ahead of him to win his first U.S. Open.

One of the most unbelievable pitching records of all-time was by Stanley Coveleski, who pitched in the majors from 1912 to 1928 ... In one game, Coveleski — incredibly — went 7 innings WITHOUT EVER THROWING A CALLED BALL ... EVERY pitch he threw was either swung at, or was a called strike ... No other big league pitcher ever had that much pin-point control for that long a time.

One Strike and You're Out. That's not a new baseball rule. That's the way disaster plays the game. Is your life, car, house and income insured for a disaster?

Do you know who holds the all-time big league baseball record for hitting the most home runs with the bases loaded in history? ... The answer is NOT Babe Ruth or Hank Aaron as you'd expect ... It is Lou Gehrig, who hit 23.

over Yale. As a football player, Peters was a "triple threat" back, excelling as a runner, passer, punter and receiver. Ceremonies attendant to the presentation of this award took place on Clarke Field immediately preceding the alumni-varsity baseball game and were directed by Friends of Princeton Baseball President Pete Riley '65 and Princeton Head Baseball Coach Tom O'Connell.

POST 76 IMPRESSIVE

In Opening Legion Win. The Princeton Post 76 American Legion team opened its season last week with a 9-4 victory over Lawrence 414 and a prediction from third-year coach Larry Bender. He foresees that Post 76 is going to be a much-improved team over last year's squad, which failed to make the playoffs with a 11-16-1 record.

"I'm optimistic," said Bender. "I'm more than happy with the way the season has begun. At the very worst we should make the playoffs, and if we play the way I know we are capable of playing, I won't be surprised if we're at or near the top when the season ends." Post 76, Bender noted, has reached the playoffs twice and the state competition once in its history, but has never won a Legion league championship. He feels he has the talent to change that this season.

"I think I have the pitching. In fact, I know I do." It includes Scott Pierson, who was 9-1 with West Windsor this past spring, Dave Arendas and Mike Walker, also from West Windsor, and Tim Rumer, Princeton High's best hurler this season. Bender also feels the team has benefited markedly from a winter program he ran to develop the players' skills and

4 Named Lacrosse All-Stars
Four members of the undefeated Princeton Day girls lacrosse team have been named to the NJISWAA all-star lacrosse team. Karen Callaway and Birgit Enstrom, the team's two senior co-captains, who accounted for a large share of the scoring, were selected for attack. A sophomore, Becca Royal, was named on defense, and goalie, Jennifer Bonini, who just learned the position this spring, was chosen as the team's goalie. Two players on the Hun School team were also picked. Gay Muzzarelli was chosen on defense, and Suzanne Simon on attack. In the New Jersey Prep "B" League boys tennis, PDS's Lyle Menendez finished on top in No. 1 singles; Jim Hall placed second in No. 3 singles; and Jon Jaffee and Ted Power came in second in No. 2 doubles.

techniques. "It's the only way you can compete," insists Bender, who sees his job now as one of refining those skills. "We'll still make the physical error but the mental mistakes (something which plagued Post 76 last year) have disappeared. The kids have grown tremendously." The team is built around a West Windsor connection that includes seven veterans, headed by catcher Craig Ender who Bender feels is one of the best in the area. Chuck McColl and Brian Lennox will patrol the outfield, and 16-year-old Darren Villani, who had two homers in the opening game, will be at third. Villani shared the RBI lead for the team last year. When Walker and Arendas are not on the mound, Walker will double at first base and Arendas at second. From Princeton High, Bender welcomes Gavin Hulsman, who was one of the leading high school batters this spring with a .474 average, and Mike Petrone, who was close behind with a .460 mark. Petrone will be at short and Hulsman in right field. Others from PHS on the team include Jeff Robinson, a backup second baseman, Bill Byrne, a backup utility player, outfielder Tom Foltiny, and Bruno DiDonato. Danny Sexton is a 15-year-old backup shortstop. Rumer, who got the opening win in a fog-shortened game with Lawrence, recording eight strikeouts in five innings, can also double at first base. Rumer is listed number four on the pitching staff but Bender chortled, "How many teams can open up with a 15-year-old on the mound? He's still playing Babe Ruth ball. He's a big boy, though, and a good pitcher." A Good Squad. "It's a good squad," summed up Bender. "If we keep it up and continue to play like we are capable of, there is no reason at the end of the year that we can't be number one. It would be a first for Princeton Post 76." Bender added that others feel the club is still a year away because of its younger players. "We are young," agreed Bender, "but we have experience." In the opener, Walker had a three-run homer and Petrone had two hits in three at bats. Villani connected for a solo homer and had his second taken away when he connected in the sixth when Post 76 pushed eight runs across to increase its margin to 17-4. The game was called at that point because of fog. The fog

Eighth-Seeded Princeton High Lacrosse Team Defeats Moorestown to Complete Improbable Run to State Title

A magical moment. Moments after her team had defeated Moorestown, 12-6, Friday at Cherry Hill West High School to win the girls' state lacrosse championship, Princeton High coach Joyce Jones gathered her team together in midfield. In the afterglow of victory and just barely successful in fighting back the tears, Jones said quietly, "We're state champs. We made history today."

"I think this [championship trophy] should be dedicated to the seniors. You've done so much. This is a magical moment."

"A lot of people say, 'Hey, coach, what are some of your most unforgettable moments? What are some of the things that have meant a lot to you?' There's no doubt in my mind that this is one of them. You're a great team. You deserve it." Immediately at the end of the game, the PHS girls had exploded with chants of "We're not number three, we're not number two, we're number one." And "History, history, history."

"Many never thought they'd do it. They've earned this," commented Jones, looking on.

Not only was it a magical moment, it was also an improbable one. PHS, struggling at times and twice a loser to town rival Princeton Day School, was seeded eighth in the tournament. It first defeated Montclair in the opening round of the state competition and then came back to upset previously unbeaten and top-seeded Summit.

Then it defeated fourth-seeded Cinnaminson and two days later culminated its drive to the crown with its victory over second-seeded Moorestown. The Quakers had entered Friday's game with a 16-1-1 record and had defeated

LOFGREN FIGHTS FOR BALL: Princeton High's Sue Lofgren (80) and Moorestown's Deanna Beurele (44) fight for ball in second half in Friday's contest for state lacrosse championship. Lofgren scored her team's first three goals in the first half to lead PHS to a 12-6 win and its first lacrosse state title ever.

Princeton in a pre-season scrimmage.

The turning point, said Jones, was when PHS defeated Summit after Summit had edged PHS by one goal the week before in a regular season game.

There were some ironies involved. No lacrosse team coached by Jones had ever lost as many games (5) as this one did since she had coached the sport, but none had ever won a state championship. Jones conceded, "If it weren't for the PHS's and Summit's we wouldn't be here."

And who would have guessed that Moorestown would hold Princeton's top scorer Erika Gabrielsen scoreless or that PHS, in turn, would limit high-scoring Moorestown to three goals in the first half and shut the Quakers down completely in the first ten minutes of the second half?

"We talked about so many things — psychological and physical," recalled Jones. "Of taking negative thoughts and how to turn them into positive thoughts. We found the perfect balance today: intensive enough to perform yet relaxed enough for it to happen."

"The way we played today is the way we have played in every tournament game. They did all I asked and more."

There were more than enough heroes to go around. Goalie Liz O'Donoghue set the tone early in the beautiful sunlit afternoon when she stopped a free position drive off the stick of Moorestown's Beth Begos in front of the cage.

Sue Lofgren scored the did come in but after a wait it dissipated, Bender reported. The umpires still called the game. "The umps just wanted to go home; they used the fog as an excuse," said Bender. The score reverted to the fifth inning and Post 76 was credited with a 9-4 win. Villani's homers and a bevy of other Post 76 hits were washed away in the decision.

Under a format adopted this season, the ten teams will play each other back to back on a home and home basis.

This Thursday, Post 76 will host Broad Street Park Post 313 at 5:45 on its home diamond, Strubing Field on the Princeton University campus. It will then come back and play BSP Saturday at 1 at Veterans Park.

Its next two games will be opposite Hamilton Post 31, a team that has been one of the dominant clubs in the league in past years.

TWO FOR TWO

For Post 76, Princeton Post 76 made it two victories against no losses when it defeated Lawrence, 8-1, Monday.

Winning pitcher Scott Pierson stymied Lawrence with five scoreless innings, allowing just three hits while fanning four. He walked two.

Post 76 settled the outcome early by scoring three runs in each of the first two innings. Mike Petrone and Darren Villani each rapped two hits in three at bats, Mike Walker drove in a pair of runs and Tim Rumer connected for an RBI double.

In all, Post 76 banged out 10 hits.

game's first goal three minutes into the game and after Begos's goal had tied it at 9:53, Lofgren put PHS ahead to stay with her second goal at the 13-minute mark. Forty-five seconds later, Lofgren scored her third goal to give PHS a 3-1 lead. Goals by Boobie Lockwood and Amy Kershaw pushed the count to 5-1 before Kathy Keenan scored the first of her three goals for the Quakers.

PHS continued to press on attack as Cassie Vogt scored at 20:08 and Aileen Causing beat goalie Beth Wilson one minute before the end of the half to give PGS a 7-3 bulge — Moorestown's Cathy Raymond having scored between the two goals.

Vogt, Lockwood Excell. Any hopes of a Moorestown comeback in the second half evaporated when Lockwood scored twice and Vogt and Jessica Fraker added single goals to widen Princeton's lead to 11-3. At the same time the PHS defense, led by veteran Nadia Glucksberg, whom Jones described as "our defensive catalyst" frustrated Moorestown at every turn.

After Keenan scored to make it 11-4, Vogt added her second goal of the half and third of the game. Moorestown scored twice in the closing minutes but by then the game had long been locked up by the Little Tigers.

It was a measure of revenge for PHS, in winning the state title. Two years ago, on the Trenton State College field, the only previous time that PHS had reached the state final, PHS was blitzed by Moorestown, who scored early and often to defeat PHS that year.

"One thing we remembered, if nothing else, was how they were able to attack from the beginning. We were in a state of shock," recalled Jones, who was determined not to forget and be condemned to repeat the past.

Crew on TV...Eventually

The news seemed almost too good to be true for followers of Princeton's crew. Its race this Saturday against Harvard and the University of Washington in Cincinnati for the National Collegiate Championship would be televised by ESPN, the national cable sports and entertainment network.

Since Princeton sports get little television coverage, this was a pleasant surprise. All that was needed was to find out the time and date — live coverage was obviously too much to ask.

As it turned out, so was any date remotely close to the event. A check with ESPN officials revealed that a tape of the race will not be aired until late August, more than two months away. So, crew fans, at 3 p.m. Sunday, August 25, about the time the Princeton football team will assemble for pre-season practice, pull up a chair and turn on your television.

In the meantime, the crew will either have won or lost, gone to England and won or lost in the Henley Royal Regatta, and come home. Even coach Larry Gluckman may have better things to do by then.

"We used the pressure of being an underdog as an asset, although we didn't think like an underdog. We felt we had everything to gain and nothing to lose.

"We were ready to play; I'm so proud of my team, especially the seniors. Two league championships, two sectional championships and a state championship — that's a heck of a record to try to duplicate. Jones has a pair of bookends, a trophy for winning the state field hockey championship last fall and now the state lacrosse trophy. A rare double.

Her players recognized her contribution when they chanted, "Coach of the Year, Coach of the Year," after Jones had talked to them after the game.

No one is going to argue with that.

16 FIRSTS FOR PRINCETON

In Junior Olympics. At the AAU District 5 Junior Olympic Track and Field Meet held last week at the Princeton High School field, the Princeton team captured 16 firsts, six seconds and five thirds. Also participating in the event hosted by the Princeton Recreation Department, were teams from Hopewell, West Windsor, Hamilton, Marlboro and Malapan.

All first place winners will compete in the Junior Olympics state meet next Saturday, June 22, at New Providence High in New Providence.

In the junior division, John Burnett won the 100-yard dash, running long jump and triple jump. Erin Irving also came home with three gold medals, capturing the 100, 440 and mile run.

The boys 440 relay team of Aaron Burt, Iwar Raphael, Barry Phox and Dylan Penningroth was timed in 57 seconds in finishing first. Burt also won the high jump, while John Mayer finished second in the mile and Seth Socolow third in the shot put.

In the midget division, Lynn Livingston won two golds in the 50 and 100 yard dashes and was a member of the winning relay team of Ashante Thompson, Kelly Benke and Lia Moore. Benke also finished first in the 800.

Brian Williams won the shot with a toss of 28 feet and Williams, Ernest Louis, Jean Cadstin and Damion Tucker combined to win the 440 relay.

Other winners include Brian Perone, second in the 880; Barbara Dengeler, second in the shot, and Tucker, third in the running long jump.

In the bantam division, Brooks Petrone and Judd O'Sullivan each won gold medals in the 880. Judd was also a third-place finisher in the long jump.

DiPERNA IS FIFTH

In Meet of Champions. In the NJSIAA Meet of Champions held Friday in South Plainfield, Princeton High's Teresa DiPerna finished fifth in the 400 meter race.

DiPerna, the only one from PHS to finish among the top five in the competition, which pits the top performers from schools in all groups, was timed in 58.2, well below her best time of 56.7 for the event. The event was captured by Neptune's Stephanie Saleen who set a new meet record of 53.0. The previous mark of 54.4 was established in 1981 by Dorothy Jones of Montclair.

SJC TEAM SPLITS

Edges 3 Seasons Again. The Sweet Jersey Corn softball team no longer owns a perfect record in the Mercer County Women's A League, but the Princeton-based girls softball team is still perfect against 3 Seasons, its long-time rival.

Last week, for the 12th time in a row, the Cornsters defeated 3 Seasons, this time by a 3-2 margin. Earlier in the week, SJC suffered an extra-innings, 2-1 loss to Champale, despite outhitting its opponents, 13-9.

Presently, the Corn has an 8-2 record.

This week, SJC will play Larry's Corner Tavern on Thursday at 6:30 on Mercer County Park's Field 3.

In their battle with 3 Seasons, the Cornsters got off to a 2-0 start in the first inning on hits by Debbie Smyth, Joanne Zola, Clare Baxter and Beth Ault and a sacrifice fly by Doreen Ragazzo. 3 Seasons scored a single run in the third and was denied more on a fine diving catch by Smyth in the outfield. It added another run in the fifth to tie the score at 2.

In the top of the seventh SJC pushed the winning run across on a lead-off single by Sandi Hibbs and Laura Johnson's second hit, a double up the center-field alley. Baxter got the win.

IPC Has 7-3 Record. In the Mercer County Minor League, the Princeton-based IPC Communications men's softball team leads its division with a 7-3 record.

IPC won four games in a row, defeating the Benders, 5-4, in eight innings, RMM Sports Cards, 15-0, Mercerville Chiropractors, 16-9, and Bocchini & Blake, 12-1, before suffering double-header losses to the Bushwhackers and CWA Local 1032.

Some of the leading hitters for IPC have been Tom Breithaupt, Albert Leiggi, John Wheeler, Joe Discavage, Bob Smyth, Bob Ogrodnik, Scott Cook, Ron Pierre and Mike Fitzpatrick. Pitcher Fitzpatrick has won five of six games while Pierre has a 2-2 record.

This Wednesday at 6:30, IPC will play the Warriors and then oppose Los Gerilleros on Friday at 7:30. Both games will be played at Mercer County Park.
